"He's the first media tycoon. There are few people who have changed the world to such extent, and achieved such an effect as Gutenberg." (Ottmar Hörl)

The internationally renowned artist Ottmar Hörl and the city of Eltville am Rhein present an installation featuring more than 150 Gutenberg sculptures. The multiples that pay respectful tribute to the inventor of printing with movable types will transform the Electoral Castle's outdoor grounds and beautiful rose gardens into a temporary art location.

2018 marks the 550th anniversary of Gutenberg's death (†1468). The art installation memorizes his significance for Eltville: It was here in the Electoral Castle where the „Man of the Millenium“ in 1465 received the only official honour of his lifetime.
